- 10.1 The Customer assures and guarantees that the Funds belong to the Customer and that they are free of any pledge, charge, lien or other encumbrance; that the Funds are not the direct or indirect proceeds of any illegal act or omission or product of any criminal activity; and that the Customer acts for himself/herself and is not a representative or trustee of a third person unless satisfactory documentation to the contrary is provided.
- 10.2 The Customer guarantees the validity and authenticity of any documentation sent to the Company during the account opening process and during the life of the Customer Trading Account.

11. Amendment and Termination of the Client Agreement

- 11.1 The Company has the right to amend the terms of the Client Agreement and shall notify the Customer accordingly. Such amendments will become effective on the specified date and will apply to any positions opened and any orders placed prior to such date.
- 11.2 The Customer and the Company may terminate this Agreement with immediate effect by giving written notice to the respective counter party.
- 11.3 Any such termination will not affect any obligation already incurred by either the Company or the Customer in respect to the Client Agreement; any Open Position or any Transactions and deposit/ withdrawal operations.
- 11.4 The Customer will be liable to pay any amount that is due to the Company, any expenses that are incurred by the Company as a result of the termination of the Client Agreement and any damage that has arisen because of an arrangement or settlement.
- 11.5 The Company will immediately transfer to the Customer any amount available in Customer Trading Account less any outstanding amount that is due to the Company by the Customer.

12. Confidentiality

- 12.1 None of the Customer's confidential information will be disclosed to a third party unless required to do so by a regulatory authority of a competent jurisdiction.
- 12.2 The Customer accepts and consents that the Company may disclose some or all of the Customer's data on an anonymous and aggregated basis for business development reasons.

13. Personal Data

- 13.1 For the purpose of this Client Agreement the Company is a data controller and is bound by the data protection principles of the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) (EU) 2016/679 in effect as from the 25th of May 2018 (replacing the Processing of Personal Data (Protection of Individuals) Law of 2001, as amended in 2003) and The Regulation of Electronic Communications and Postal Services Law of 2004.
- 13.2 By accepting this agreement, the Customer acknowledges and agrees that the Company shall collect and process personal information provided by the Customer in connection with the Customer's Trading Account for the purpose of performing its obligations under this Client Agreement. The Company may share Customer's personal information with third parties in order to provide the Customer with the services and improve Company's product and services in line with the applicable laws and Company's Privacy Policy. The Company will not disclose Customer's personal information to any third party without Customer's prior consent and/or without having a legal basis to do so.

13.3 Under certain circumstances, the Customer has the right under data protection laws in relation to his/her personal data to:

- Request access to personal data ('data subject access request'). This enables the Customer to receive a copy of the personal data that the Company holds about the Customer and to check the lawfully processing of the personal data;
- Request correction of personal data that the Company holds about the Customer. This enables the Customer to have any incomplete or inaccurate data the Company holds about the Customer corrected, though we may need to verify the accuracy of the new data the Customer provide to the Company.
- Request of erasure of personal data. This enables the Customer to ask us to delete or remove personal data where there is no good reason for the Company to continue to process it. The Customer also has the right to ask the Company to delete or remove Customer's personal data where the Customer has successfully exercised his/her right to object to processing, where the processing was unlawful or where the Company is obliged erase Customer's personal data to comply with local laws.

The Company reserves its right not always to comply with the request of erasure for specific legal reasons which will be notified to the Customer, if applicable, at the time of the request.

- Object to processing of personal data where the Company is relying on a legitimate interest (or those of a third party) and there is an impact on the fundamental rights and freedoms of the Customer.
- The Customer has also the right to object where the Company is processing his/her personal data for direct marketing purposes. In some cases, the Company may demonstrate that it has compelling legitimate grounds to process Customer's personal information which may override his/her rights and freedoms.
- Request restriction of processing of personal data. This enables the Customer to request the suspension of the processing of his/her personal data in the following cases:
 - (a) if the Customer wishes the Company to establish the data's accuracy;
 - (b) where Company's use of the data is unlawful, but the Customer do not want the erasure of the data;

(c) where the Customer requires the Company to hold the data even if the Company no longer require it, but the Customer needs to establish, exercise or defend legal claims; or

(d) the Customer has objected to the use of his/her data but the Company needs to verify whether it has overriding legitimate grounds to use it.

- Request the transfer of personal data you the Customer or to a third party. The Company will provide to the Customer, or a third party as per Customer's request, his/her personal data in a structured, commonly used, machine-readable format. Note that this right only applies to automated information which you initially provided consent for the Company to use or where the Company used the information to perform a contract with the Customer.
- Withdraw consent at any time where the Company is relying on consent to process Customer's personal data. However, this will not affect the lawfulness of any processing carried out before the withdrawal of the consent. If the Customer withdraws his/her consent, the Company may not be able to provide certain products or services. The Company shall notify the Customer accordingly at the time of withdraw of the consent.

13.4 The Customer must read and acknowledge Company's Privacy Policy available at the Company's website.

14. Recording of Telephone Calls

14.1 Telephone communication and/or electronic communications (either initiated from the Company's side or the Customer's side) between the Company and the Customer will be recorded. All recordings are the property of the Company and may be used in instances, including but not limited to, of dispute and shall be conclusive and binding evidence.

14.2 Instructions or requests received over the phone will be equally binding with written instructions. When receiving orders over the phone the Company will ask details as shown in the Order Form under 'Legal Documents' on our website.

14.3 The Company may provide copies of such recordings of telephone calls to a regulatory authority of a competent authority, without informing the Customer, if necessary.

15. Consent to Direct Contact

15.1 The Customer consents that any communication whether by telephone, facsimile or otherwise, received by the Company in relation to the Client Agreement or marketing does not breach any of the Customer's rights under the Client Agreement.

16. Conflicts of Interest

16.1 The Company is required by Law to take all reasonable steps to detect and avoid conflicts of interest. The Company is committed to act honestly, fairly and in the best interests of its Customers. The document 'Conflicts of Interest Policy' provides a summary of the policy, which is constantly updated and upgraded to the benefit of the business relationship between the Company and the Client with emphasis to Investor Protection.

16.2 The Customer accepts that a conflict of interest may arise when the interest of the Company competes or interferes with the Customer's interests under the Client Agreement. By way of example, the Customer accepts that:

- The Company may pay commission, or other related fee, to a third party for introducing the Customer or the Customer's trading activity; Costs and Charges exist on our website and can be provided on request by client on a total and segregated form. The third party must publish through a durable medium his charges also towards the Client
- The Company may establish business or trading relationships with other issuers of financial instruments and the Company may have a financial interest in such instruments.
- The Company acts as a Principal to the transactions/orders of the client but through its expertise, personnel and systems it safeguards the minimization of any currently existing conflicts of interest between the company and the client. The company will take remedy measures as soon as additional conflicts of interest arise from time to time and inform the client accordingly.

17. Governing Law and Jurisdiction

17.1 The Client Agreement is governed by the laws of the Republic of Cyprus.

17.2 Any proceedings and their settlement involving the Customer and the Company will take place in the competent courts of the Republic of Cyprus.

17.3 The Customer agrees not to claim that such proceedings have been brought in an inconvenient forum or that such court does not have jurisdiction over the Customer.

- 18.7. The Customer declares that he/she is fully aware of any restrictions and implications applicable to his/her local jurisdiction in relation to entering the Client Agreement.
- 18.8. The Customer accepts that the Company may provide him/her with information about amendments to the terms and conditions, fees, costs, the Client Agreement, Policies and information about the nature and risks of investments to be posted on the Company's website. Such information will be binding to the Customer, without prior written notice and consent.

19. Force Majeure

- 19.1. The Company may, in its reasonable opinion, determine that a force majeure event occurred, in which case the Company will take all reasonable steps to inform the Customer.
- 19.2. For the purpose of this Agreement, a Force Majeure event shall be any circumstance or event beyond the Company's reasonable control, which prevents the Company from maintaining an orderly operation of business, and includes without limitation natural, political, governmental, economic, social, industrial, technological acts or actions, as well as any breakdown, delay, malfunction or failure of transmission, communication or computer facilities; act of God; act of terrorism; the failure by the relevant intermediate broker or agent, dealer, market, clearing house, or regulatory or self-regulatory organisation for any reason to perform its obligations.
- 19.3. If the Company determines that a force majeure event exists, without prejudice to any other rights of the Customer under the Client Agreement, the Company without prior written notice may:

- Increase margin requirements;
- Decrease leverages;
- Amend the terms of a closed position;
- Increase spreads;
- Close out any Open Positions at such prices that the Company considers in good faith and appropriate;
- Suspend or modify or freeze the provision of investment and/or ancillary services to the Customer;
- Amend any or all of the content of the Client Agreement on the basis that it is impossible or impractical for the Company to comply with it.

19.4 In no event shall the Company be liable to the Customer for any partial or complete non-performance of the Company's obligations under this Agreement by reason of any cause beyond the Company's reasonable control referred to in clause 18.2 hereof.

20. Default

20.1 An Event of Default occurs when the Customer:

- Is in breach of the Client Agreement;
- Is a person and becomes of unsound mind or dies;
- Is a legal person and proceedings have been initiated for the Customer's bankruptcy or for the winding-up or for the appointment of an administrator or receiver or any action similar.

20.2 When an Event of Default occurs, the Company may, without prior written Notice, take measures such as:

- Close any or all of the Customer's Trading Accounts;
- Close out all or any of the Customer's Open Positions at current Quotes;
- Refuse to open new trading accounts for the Customer;
- Refuse to open new positions requested by the Customer;
- Debit the Customer's Trading Account(s) for any amounts due to the Company.

21. Miscellaneous

- 21.1 If for any reason a court of a competent jurisdiction deems a part of the Client Agreement unenforceable, then such part will be severed, and the remainder of the Client Agreement will remain unaffected.
- 21.2 The Customer cannot assign or transfer any of his/her rights and or obligations under the Client Agreement to another party.
- 21.3 The Company may assign or transfer any of its rights and or obligations under the Client Agreement to another or legal person, in whole or in part provided that such party agrees to abide by the Client Agreement.
- 21.4 The rights and remedies provided to the Company under the Client Agreement are cumulative and are not exclusive of any rights or remedies provided by law.
- 21.5 The Customer accepts that the Company's official language is the English language and should always refer to the Company's Website for all required information. Translation in other languages is for informational purposes only and does not bind the Company over any responsibility or liability regarding the correctness of the information.
- 21.6. The Company has the right to suspend the Customer's Trading Account at any time for any good reason with or without Written Notice to the Customer.

Trade Responsibly: Contracts for Difference (CFD) trading carries a high level of risk to your capital and can result in losses that exceed your initial deposit.
